

Uclan Biomedical Technology (Shenzhen) Limited
FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT 2000

GUIDE TO INFORMATION

1 Introduction

1.1 The Freedom of Information Act 2000 gives a general right of access to recorded information held by public authorities, sets out exemptions from that right and places a number of obligations on public authorities. A “public authority” is defined in the Act, and includes publicly owned companies. Uclan Biomedical Technology (Shenzhen) Limited is a publicly owned company. Any person who makes a request to a public authority for information must be informed whether the public body holds that information and, subject to exemptions, be supplied with that information.

In addition to giving the public the right of access to information, all public bodies are required to issue a declaration about what they will routinely publish. The Company has adopted the model Publication Scheme for Publicly Owned Companies as recommended by the Information Commissioner –the information watchdog. Details of the model scheme can be found on the Information Commissioner’s website at www.ico.gov.uk

1.2 This guide to information is set out around seven categories as recommended by the Information Commissioner. These categories are as follows:

- Who we are and what we do
- What we spend and how we spend it
- What our priorities are and how we are doing
- How we make decisions
- Our policies and procedures
- Lists and registers
- Services provided by the Company

These categories are described in more detail below under the heading “Classes of Information”. In each of these classes, there is a link to the University of Central Lancashire’s website to find out more about this type of information and how it can be accessed. Also on this website, you can browse the different categories of information, or use the search facility to look for something in particular.

2 How to obtain information and charges

We are committed to publishing documents on our website where this is possible and these will be free to access in that format. We will indicate where hard copies of publications need to be requested and these will incur no charge.

To request hardcopies of information available through our publication scheme please contact:

Group Company Secretary

Tel No 01772 892552

3 How to obtain information not listed here

Individuals or organisations have the right to request any information held by the Company which is not already available through the publication scheme. Requests should be made in writing to the officer referred to above. The Company will aim to supply the information within 20 working days. A fee may be charged which will be calculated according to the fees regulations. We will aim to provide the information requested but will not release the information to which an exemption in the Freedom of Information Act applies.

4 Feedback

It is important to the Company that our publication scheme meets your needs and we welcome any comments and suggestions to improve it. Any questions, comments or complaints about this scheme can be forwarded to the Group Company Secretary whose details are given above.

If you are unable to resolve any complaint, you can complain to the Information Commissioner, the independent body who oversees the Freedom of Information Act:
